This book, first published in 1973, analyses the European Community in a global perspective. It asks and answers two main questions: what does the European Community mean to the masses of the world, and what does it mean to the world community in general? Most critical studies of the EC were made from an internal point of view, and this book is rare in having an external perspective. The author discussed the EC with diverse audiences in 16 countries, and his analyses are invaluable in putting the European project in an international context.

With the highly tuned intimacy for which his pictures are known, Howard Roffman gives us a glimpse into Kris's life over a period of three years. Kris, one of the Three from Roffman's beloved collection of the same name, matures from a rather shy youth to a confident young man, whose clear gaze and natural eroticism have already bewitched many a viewer, and will entice many more to come. Illustrated with full-sized duotone photographs throughout.
