Motivation, Agency, and Public Policy: Of Knights and Knaves, Pawns and Queens Julian Le Grand Abstract.
Can we rely on the public service ethos to deliver high quality public services? Are professionals such as doctors and teachers really public-spirited altruists—knights—or self-interested egoists—knaves? And how should the ...

Assumptions concerning human motivation—the internal desires or preferences that incite action—and agency—the capacity to undertake that action—are key to both the design and the implementation of public policy. So, for instance, a policy instrument designed on the assumption that people are motivated primarily by their own self-interest—that they are, in the words of David Hume
